- Slow communication

More than getting the year filed.

Registry Unlimited brings routine bookkeeping and agreed filing work into one continuing House of Companies relationship, with organised records, clear next steps and a personal Account Manager.

HOW HOUSE OF COMPANIES WORKS

Upload what you have. Get a clear next step.

A practical working rhythm: existing records, organised review, focused questions and a named person coordinating the work.

01 · YOU SHARE WHAT YOU HAVE

Upload your existing records

Start with your latest annual accounts, supporting ledger and current bookkeeping records. They give us a practical starting point.

02 · HOUSE OF COMPANIES REVIEWS

We review and identify gaps

House of Companies reviews the available information: what is usable, what is missing and what needs clarification. If records are with your accountant, we explain what is needed.

03 · EMMA HELPS ORGANISE

Focused questions, in context

Emma helps organise clarification questions and your answers around the relevant records, so each request has a clear purpose.

04 · YOUR ACCOUNT MANAGER COORDINATES

A person coordinates your work

Your personal Registry Account Manager coordinates the agreed bookkeeping work and involves the appropriate specialist when needed.

Technology supports the relationship. People remain responsible.

House of Companies manages the agreed routine work. You are not buying software and being left to do the bookkeeping yourself.

HOW SWITCHING WORKS

A better working relationship starts with a practical handover.

Start with a conversation about what needs to improve. Together, we can consider your existing arrangement and the work ahead.

1. Tell us what needs to change
   Discuss your current accountant, bookkeeping requirements and any upcoming handover considerations.

2. Review your proposal
   Review a personalised offer covering scope, pricing and proposed start dates. Your existing notice period is considered when planning the move.

3. Share your records
   Complete the necessary checks and provide your existing bookkeeping information. We review the starting records and identify remaining questions.

4. Begin your ongoing service
   Your Account Manager coordinates the agreed work. You provide new records and answer focused questions when your business context is needed.

You do not need a perfect file to start.

If records are missing or earlier periods need attention, tell us. We identify what is needed for the handover. Backlog correction and historical reconstruction may require separate scope, explained and agreed before additional work begins.
